

Building Stronger, More Connected Teams

Keeping the Human in the Middle One Day Workshop

In our fast-paced, performance-driven, disruptive world, busyness and panic transcends everything. Stopping, being, feeling and connecting are falling by the wayside. It's no surprise that teams don't last and are not as effective as they should be.

This one day, process-based, interactive workshop will...

- Provide you with tools to de-stress and decompress your team;
- Help you to discover and experience relationship-glue that keeps teams together;
- Shift your perceptions about hierarchies and roles in your team;
- Show you how to get more out of your Millennials;
- Explore the family dynamic that underpins teams at their core;
- Introduce you to some unusual and little-understood principles of human connection;
- Help you to win at home and at work by having a positive impact on lives and on the bottom line.

Strong businesses are not just about their products and processes, but about the people behind them.

Who should attend?

Everyone who works in a team or who assembles teams for projects. We will break down barriers and connect people, putting the human back into work, building stronger and more connected teams.

Our facilitator

Nikki Bush is a human potential expert who brings her wealth of insight and experience into the room, based on a deep understanding of human development. She has a unique way of overlaying parenting frameworks on organisational culture, uncovering some often-forgotten fundamentals. Nikki is an award-winning speaker, best-selling author and media personality, having done over 2 000 media interviews on connection and relationship over the past 10 years. She recently published an ebook: "Talent Re-Defined" with Raymond de Villiers. Nikki works with various business schools including Henley, Wits and GIBS.
