

Partners for Possibility

The Partners for Possibility initiative forms part of Symphonia for South Africa's vision, which is to strengthen the fabric of society through leading and initiating projects that are intended to engage South Africans in the processes of nation building. Their goal is to get citizens from all walks of life actively and enthusiastically engaged in the challenges of the school and to 'walk together' as a community. We spoke to Fundraising & Stakeholder Engagement Consultant, Rosie Chirongoma.

Source: http://symphonia.net/symphonia_our_story.htm
(http://symphonia.net/symphonia_our_story.htm)

Our company name was inspired by a story from the book "The Art of Possibility" written by Benjamin and Rosamund Zander.

'Symphonia' literally means the sounding together of voices and this is the ethos of our work and our vision for this country. Engaging people in their work and enabling people to live remarkable lives starts by creating opportunities for all the voices to be heard (Symphonia).

When the Zanders visited South Africa in the late 1990's, they found "South Africa, the embodiment of Symphonia, the sounding of all the voices together. A living, breathing entity" (The Art of Possibility, p191). It is our intention to ignite a sense of Possibility into this "living, breathing entity" through the work that we do.

For more information go to: <http://symphonia.net/> (<http://symphonia.net/>)

