More about our Speakers

Deborah Williams (MMI Holdings)

“Transformative learning of leaders” – How do we catalyse transformative learning with a focus on the personal transformation of leaders and a transformed way of leading in organisations

Deborah was Head of L&D in Metropolitan Health and is currently the senior OD consultant in MMI Health. Her years at a strategic level with executives in shifting organisational culture to support business strategy has led to numerous insights. She is completing her MPhil Management Coaching at USB and has found that the integration of knowledge and practice in coaching, talent management and leadership development has contributed to her OD practice. As a women leader she pioneered a women and leadership programme for the public sector. Since then she has dedicated her professional life to shift mind-sets, paradigms, thinking, feeling and behaviour of leaders resulting in meaningful learning and change and leading to self-renewal for the individual and growth for the organisation.

Robyn Hey (Robyn Hey Attorneys)

“The business autopsy” – The most common reasons businesses die

Robyn has more than 12 years’ experience as a commercial litigator. Her expertise in this area was first forged at the prominent law firm, ENS. Now as the director of Robyn Hey Attorneys, Robyn offers clients expertise in this field but with the added benefits of personal service, quick turnaround times and cost effectiveness. Through understanding the strategic, financial and legal implications of distressed businesses, Robyn enjoys advising clients on how to avoid the fallout from a liquidation and provides risk assessments. She has recognised that business owners need specialist advice in structuring both their personal and business affairs to ensure that their assets are protected and that wealth is built up tax efficiently. Future-proofing her clients’ businesses is both a passion and a priority. Clients are drawn to Robyn’s approachability, her no-nonsense approach and her unwavering commitment to their individual businesses.

Mavis Ureke (Training B2B)

“Maximising learning = Winning in the long run” – A self-growth plan leading to increased growth rate is the only guarantee that tomorrow will be different

Mavis Ureke is an international human behaviour specialist and author of several books including: Navigating The Rapids and Waves of Life: 10 Lessons to Managing Emotions for Success; Managing Emotions for Financial Freedom: The Invisible Forces Driving your Money Habits; Heart Boundaries; co-author of The Change and Aspire, Awaken and Actualise. She is the co-founder of Training B2B, a leading provider of Emotional Intelligence training. She is a frequent speaker/trainer/facilitator and keynote speaker at public and private engagements. Mavis is a media personality with regular appearance on Business Day TV, other TV channels, radio stations and a City Press columnist.
