More about our Speakers

Marlette Hegyi (Molly and the Mountains)

“Steps to summit” - Conquering some of the highest mountains, overcoming your fears, harness your core strengths and achieve your goals and dreams

Marlette is a professional speaker, with a passion for inspiring people about living with resilience and fearlessly achieving goals. For the past decade, Molly has dedicated herself to pursuing the goals of climbing the 7 summits – the highest mountain on each continent. Her story will invigorate all to have courage in achieving what they are afraid to do, and see how an ordinary person can achieve extraordinary things. She has inspired corporates, sports teams and large groups of men and woman with her high altitude experiences. When not climbing or working, Molly rides mountain bikes and dirt bikes, and also enjoys quiet time with her family.

Tracy Fortune (Social Scientist)

“Tenacity & resilience” - Building strength from the inside out and embracing your authenticity

Born and bred in Cape Town, Tracy Fortune is a social scientist who has been working in corporate Johannesburg for 7 years. A failed, yet aspiring entrepreneur, she is passionate about people and helping them discover and nurture their gifts and talents.

In addition to more than 15 years’ experience in the field of behavioural science, Tracy holds qualifications in Human Resource Management & Development. She is currently pursuing her fourth degree in the social sciences.

Lynn Andriés (Symbiota Leadership Institute)

“Stronger than we think” - A life-inspired, brain-based lens on resilience

Through compelling insights and a glimpse into her personal experience of growing up in an orphanage, Lynn illuminates strategies that can influence our confidence, resilience and the outcomes of our lives.

Lynn is passionate about developing trust and high-performance corporate teams, with the brain in mind. She holds a MSc degree in the Neuroscience of Leadership (Middlesex University UK), and is engaged in her PhD studies at UCT Graduate School of Business.
